

Cherry Blossoms Washington D.C.

Florida Farm Bureau Federation
Field to the Hill 2016

The cherry blossoms will be in full bloom during this year's Field to the Hill trip!

Our trip will be held during the annual National Cherry Blossom Festival.

The National Cherry Blossom Festival has all information about the festival and peak bloom times. The FAQs has answers about the best time of day to see the trees, where the trees are located, and many more.

Some general information to know about the cherry blossoms is:

- The cherry blossoms currently grow around the Tidal Basin in West Potomac Park, in East Potomac Park, and are on the Washington Monument grounds.
- There are approximately 3,750 trees in Washington D.C.
- The trees were given as a gift of friendship in 1912 from the people of Japan.

A map has been included below to help locate the cherry blossom trees during any potential down time.
